4. The Supervisory Committee receives the minutes of the Executive Board meetings and the Membership Meeting as well as the annual accounts.
 5. The Supervisory Committee shall elect from among its members a President who sends out invitations to three Supervisory Committee meetings every year.
 6. The Supervisory Committee reports to the Membership Meeting and the Executive Board about its work and indicates, if necessary, where changes should be made.
 7. The Supervisory Committee prepares its rules of procedure which are adopted by the Membership Meeting and which define the type and scope of its activities.

Article 9 Ombudsperson

The Membership Meeting elects an Ombudsperson for a period of three years. The Ombudsperson investigates internal complaints filed by employees, project partners and other persons who are affiliated with the Association. The Ombudsperson should have legal expertise. He or she follows up on the well-founded information and complaints and reports to the Supervisory Committee and the Executive Board about the clarification of the issue achieved. The information and complaints presented to the Ombudsperson are treated confidentially and the complaining person shall suffer no prejudice.

V. Statutory Amendments and Dissolution of the Association

Article 10

1. An amendment to the Constitution requires a three-quarter majority of the members present at the Membership Meeting. The Executive Board is entitled to make editorial changes with a simple majority.
2. The change of the Association's purpose as defined in Article 1 requires the consent from all members; members who were not in attendance must submit their endorsement in writing.
3. The dissolution of the Association requires the approval of three quarters of the members. Members may also declare their endorsement in writing (e.g. by fax, letter or e-mail).

Article 11

Upon dissolution of the Association or upon the cessation of its tax-privileged purposes, the assets of the Association shall pass to KOLPING INTERNATIONAL (legal entity KOLPING INTERNATIONAL Association e.V.), which shall use the assets exclusively and directly for charitable purposes.

In the event that this Association has ceased to exist or is no longer a non-profit organization and after all debts and liabilities have been satisfied, assets shall be transferred to the non-profit International Adolph Kolping Foundation which has its seat in Cologne, Germany and which shall use the assets exclusively and directly for charitable purposes.

Article 12

For the interpretation of this Constitution, the version of the constitution recorded in the Register of Associations and written in German shall prevail.

Adopted at the Membership Meeting on December 9, 2017 in Cologne, Germany.
